Health Datapalooza and National Health Policy Conference Sponsorship

The joint Health Datapalooza (HDP) and National Health Policy Conference (NHPC) harnesses and strengthens the synergies that exist between the data and policy worlds and offers innovative solutions to directly confront the challenges, opportunities, and threats facing U.S. health care.

Attendees will learn about the newest and most innovative uses of health data, technologies, and policy decisions that are improving health care delivery. There's much the communities can learn from one another.

Maximized Exposure & Networking

In addition to highly visible recognition throughout the two conferences and both diverse communities, sponsors gain access to attendees both pre- and post-conference with recognition in the pre-conference materials and marketing correspondence. Sponsors receive multiple opportunities for visibility throughout the conference, including interaction with attendees and recognition in the conference mobile app, website, and marketing materials.

HDP/NHPC sponsorship benefits ensure that your organization is widely recognized before, during and after the conference.

- Prominent signage throughout the conference
- Organizational logo in the Online Resource Guide
- Advertisement in the Online Resource Guide
- Complimentary conference registration(s)*
- Your website link and logo on the conference website
- Recognition through both marketing correspondences and Twitter communications
- Branding on the conference mobile application
- Recognized as supporter of the NHPC pre-conference webinar in February and the HDP pre-conference webinar in March
